Dear Mr. Pfanner, June 24, 2007

I would like to let you know that I oppose the two new power plants being planned in Hayward, Ca.

These plants are not only bad for global warming, but the particulates and ammonia would pose a health risk to the people living nearby.

I hope that the plants are either not built, or built in such a way that they do not harm people or the overall global climate. Since this may be impossible, I think that alternative energy sources should be examined. Wind, solar, tidal, and other similar energy sources would provide energy without hurting us or our planet.

We only have eight years to make a change before global warming will possibly be irreversible.

Hopefully,
