

September 18, 2007

To whom it may concern:

After reading the article of the power plants in Hayward, it is come upon my concern that it is not yet decided on what to do or how to react to this situation. It is obviously clear that the government is still trying to decide whether they should have other companies involved and trying to help this problem. Energy needs to be fixed and it needs to be accomplished at once. Even though one is not familiar with the material and information, the articles give me an idea of what might be the problem. Much like in the article "Power providers may offer incentives", written by Matt O'brien, it is said that a good idea would be to save the energy. That the residence all over needs to for example, burn wood in their house to save electricity and energy. It was also talking about how the Calpine could be good help to the company and it does thrive to better the energy. Calpine's plan is to offer Hayward residents a $400 discount for a fireplace retrofit or a $700 discount for a wood stove replacement. I believe that that is a good idea and if it works out, it would not only better Hayward and its district but our environment we live in today.

Sincerely,

Candida M. Katoa

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Candida M. Katoa", written over the typed name.